

The object of the game is for the player to choose a number representing a poker hand that will qualify them to get paid according to a payout schedule.

A single standard deck of playing cards may be used in dealing Players Choice Poker.

To start the game, players must place their wagers on any of the numbered circles 1 thru 6, this will indicate which hand(s) the player chooses to wager on.

Players may wager on one hand or all six hands.

When all wagers are in place, the dealer shall deal the cards to the appropriate spots on the table layout.

Upon revealing the cards, players that have chosen a number containing a hand with less than a pair lose, those bets will be collected by the dealer.

Players that have chosen a number with a hand containing a pair or higher will be paid according to the pay table listed below.
